After $1 BILLION in SCHOOL FUNDING CUTS, who really loses?
They do.

Anyone who says th
FUNDING CRISIS in Pe

Here's what public schools have lost:

School Funding Cuts Since 2011:	Nearly $1 Billion
Education Jobs Lost:	Nearly 20,000
School Districts That Increased Class Size:	70% - 2011-12 51% - 2012-13 47% - 2013-14
School Districts That Cut Tutoring:	35% - 2011-12 32% - 2012-13 22% - 2013-14
School Districts That Cut Important Courses:	44% - 2011-12 43% - 2012-13 30% - 2013-14

Here's what corporations have gained:

Projected Average Tax Benefits For Marcellus Shale Drillers:	$1.1 Billion Per Year
Tax Benefits for Companies Incorporated Out of State:	$500 - $600 Million Per Year

here's not a SCHOOL nnsylvania is WRONG.

Here's what is happening to your students:

"Our district has cut more than 30 teaching positions. It's created larger class sizes and fewer course offerings for kids."

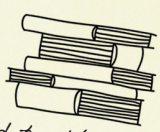
Mark Condo
Central Mountain School District

"Our students only get instruction from a music specialist every 15 days. The same goes for art and physical education. We have a library with books, but no librarians."

Tim Kearney
Allentown School District

"This year we had a lot of interest in Spanish I and we were 20 textbooks short. There wasn't enough in the budget to buy the 20 textbooks."

Anita Young
Huntingdon Area School District



We need textbooks!

"Student achievement is going to drop when you have more students in the classroom and not enough hands."

Wendy Wakefield
McKeesport Area School District

"Budget cuts have taken away the programs and connections our students need. They could get left behind."

Gary Revale
Sharon City School District

It's time to Go ALL IN Every PSEA member makes a difference in Pennsylvania's schools and classrooms, every day.

And we can make a difference in the state Capitol. That's where the school funding crisis started. And that's where we will solve it.

What it takes is for us to Go ALL IN.

We need to communicate with our legislators, enroll community Partners who feel as strongly as we do about the public schools, and contribute to PSEA-PACE so that we can elect pro-public education candidates.

Here's how you can go ALL IN:

- Contact Your legislators TODAY. Go to www.psea.org/ALLIN and tell them that it's time to solve the school funding crisis.
- Enroll Partners for Public Education. Go to www.partnersforpubliced.org to learn more.
- Give to PSEA-PACE. Contribute at www.psea.org/pace