

Common Ground in the Commonwealth Q4 Survey

n800 Registered Pennsylvania Voters

Field Dates: December 08-12, 2023

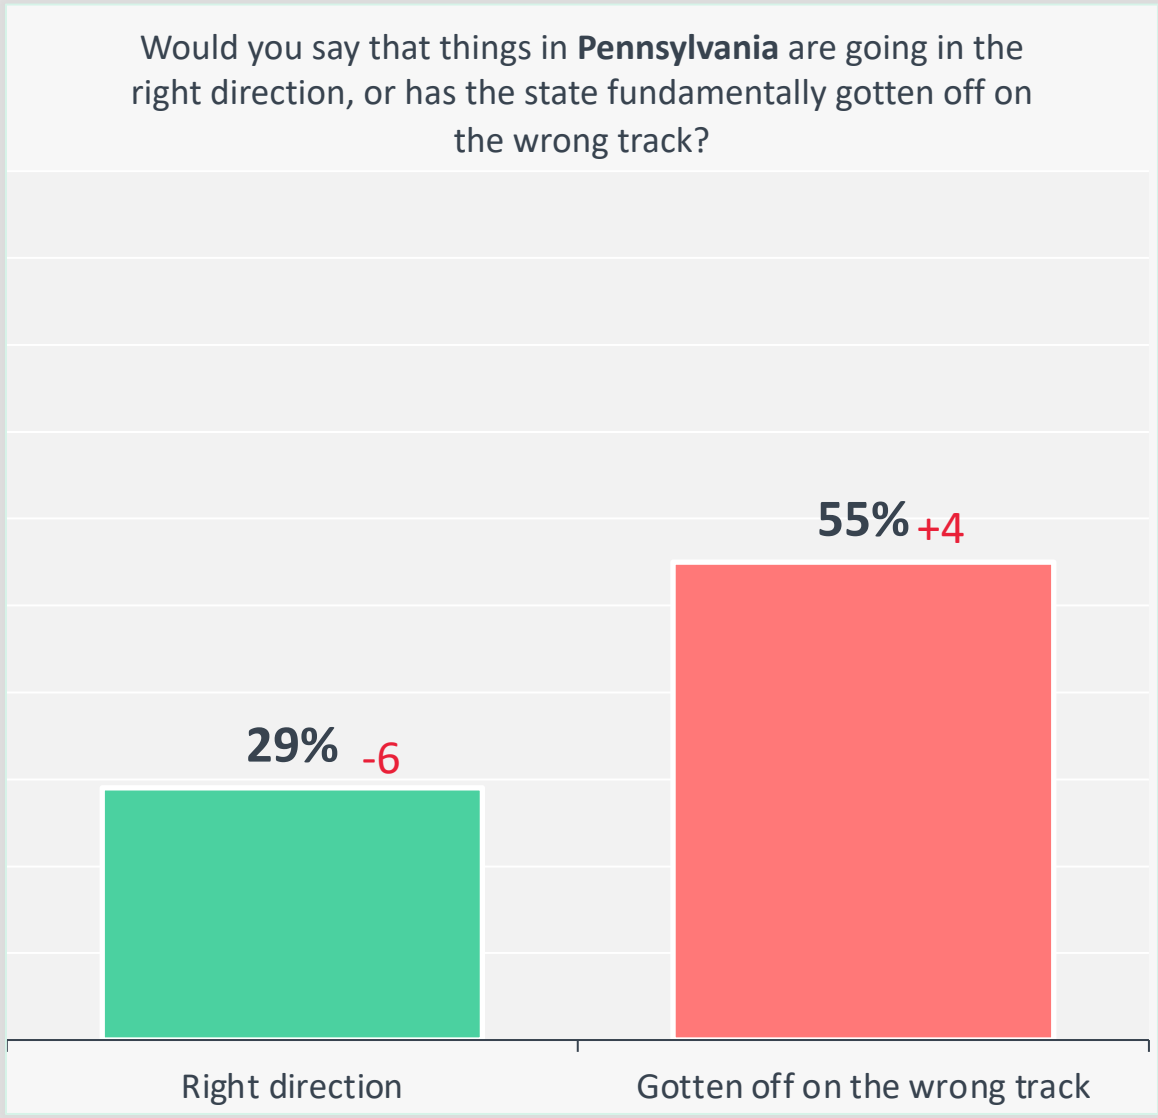

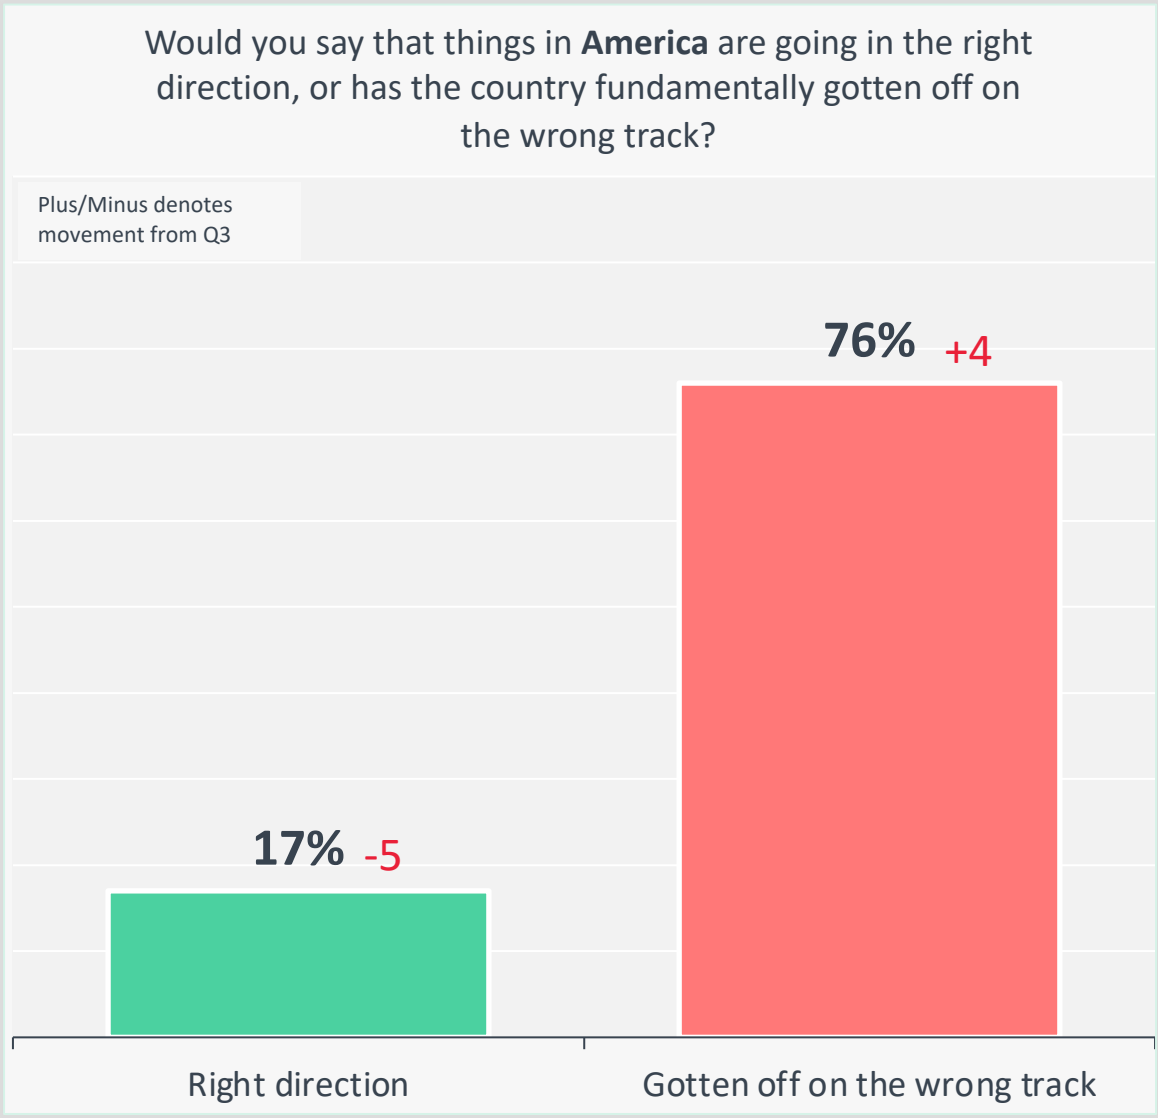

Margin of Error: $\pm 3.46\%$

Methodology

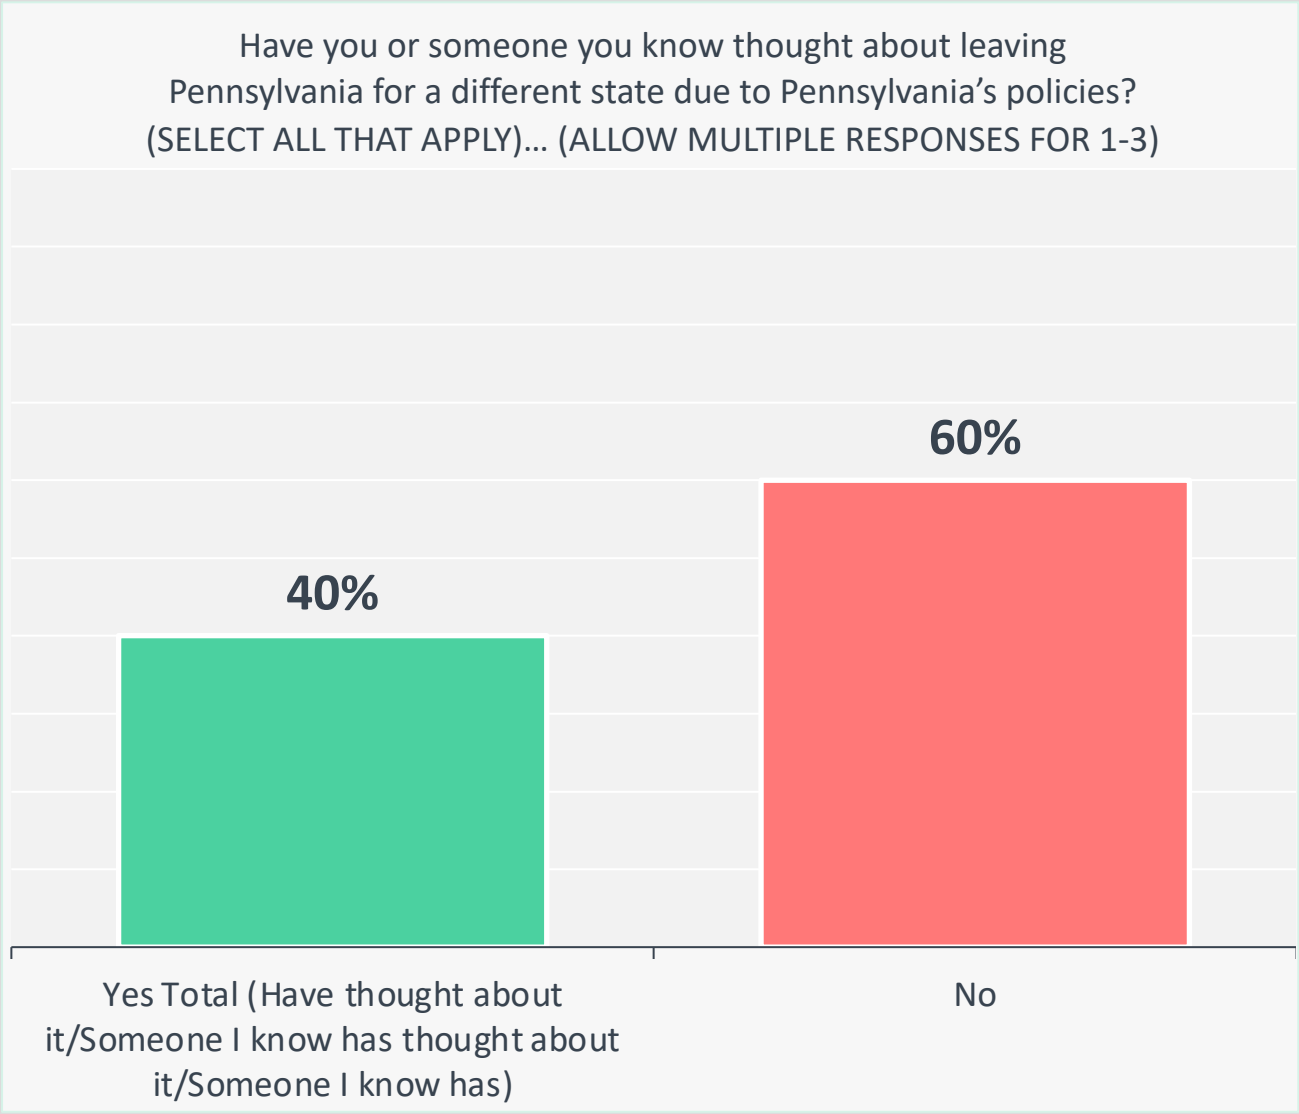

- Online survey conducted December 08 -12, 2023, among n800 registered Pennsylvania voters statewide. Respondents were selected randomly from opt-in panel participants.
- Sampling controls were used to ensure that a proportional and representative number of respondents were interviewed from such demographic groups as partisanship, age, gender, race, and geographic region.
- Statewide survey of registered voters has a $\pm 3.46\%$ overall margin of error at the 95% confidence interval.
- Past polling can be found at <http://commongroundpoll.com/>

Commonwealth Sentiment Series

Wrong Direction: Over three-quarters of registered Pennsylvania voters now feel the country has gotten off on the wrong track, the highest wrong track sentiment of the year, and less than 3-in-10 feel the Commonwealth is headed in the right direction.

Younger, Moderate Citizens Voting With Their Feet: Over half of Independents and respondents younger than 30 have thought about leaving the state, know someone who has thought about leaving, or know someone who has already left due to Pennsylvania’s policies.

Congressional Generic Ballot Dead Heat: Republican congressional candidate support has increased three-points since the Q3 Common Ground poll, with the generic Democratic candidate losing a point during the same span of time.

PA U.S. Senate: More than a third of voters remain uncommitted, while Bob Casey leads David McCormick (42% to 27%) in our first head-to-head matchup, but Casey’s total support is below 50%, dangerous territory for a three-term incumbent. McCormick remains relatively unknown and currently has just 50% of GOP support.

Is Shapiro's Honeymoon Over? While Governor Shapiro still enjoys a +26-point approval rating, Q4 marks the first job approval decline in his early tenure, with more voters moving into the 'unsure' column.

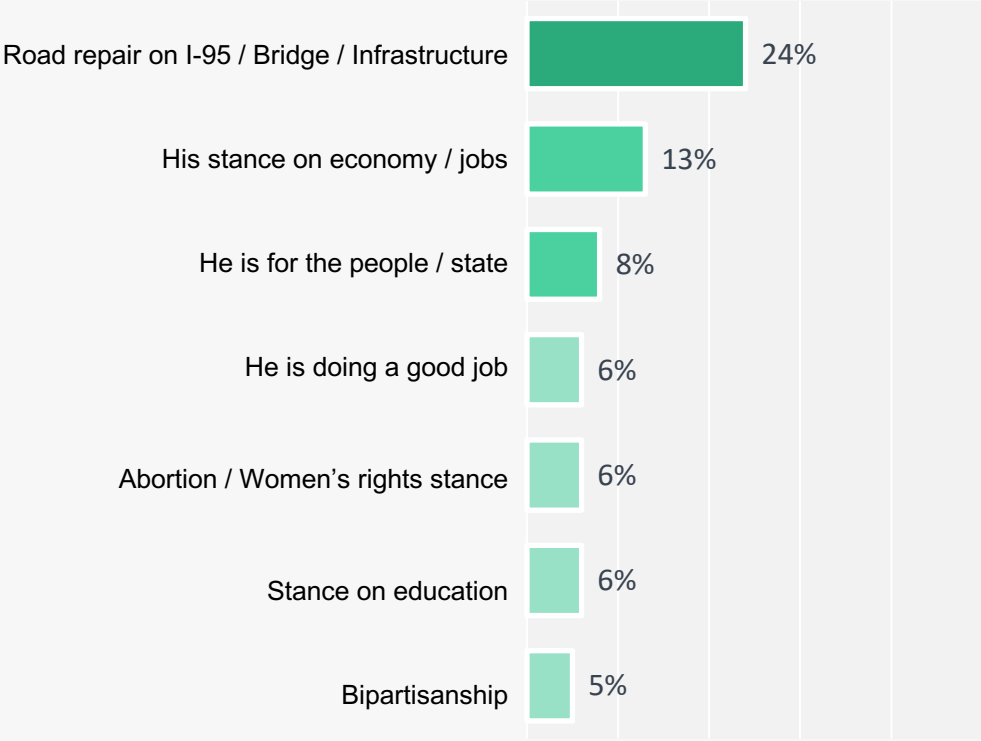

State Policy Series

While Governor Shapiro touts himself as 'getting stuff done', 61% of voters are unsure or do not believe that he has delivered major accomplishments during his first year in office. Few respondents can identify accomplishments the Governor achieved working with the legislature. Of the 39% that do, the I-95 reopening was cited as his biggest win.

Do you feel Governor Shapiro has delivered major accomplishments during his first year in office?

(If yes in previous question: n311)
As Governor Josh Shapiro approaches the end of his first year in office, what do you regard as his greatest accomplishment? (open-ended)

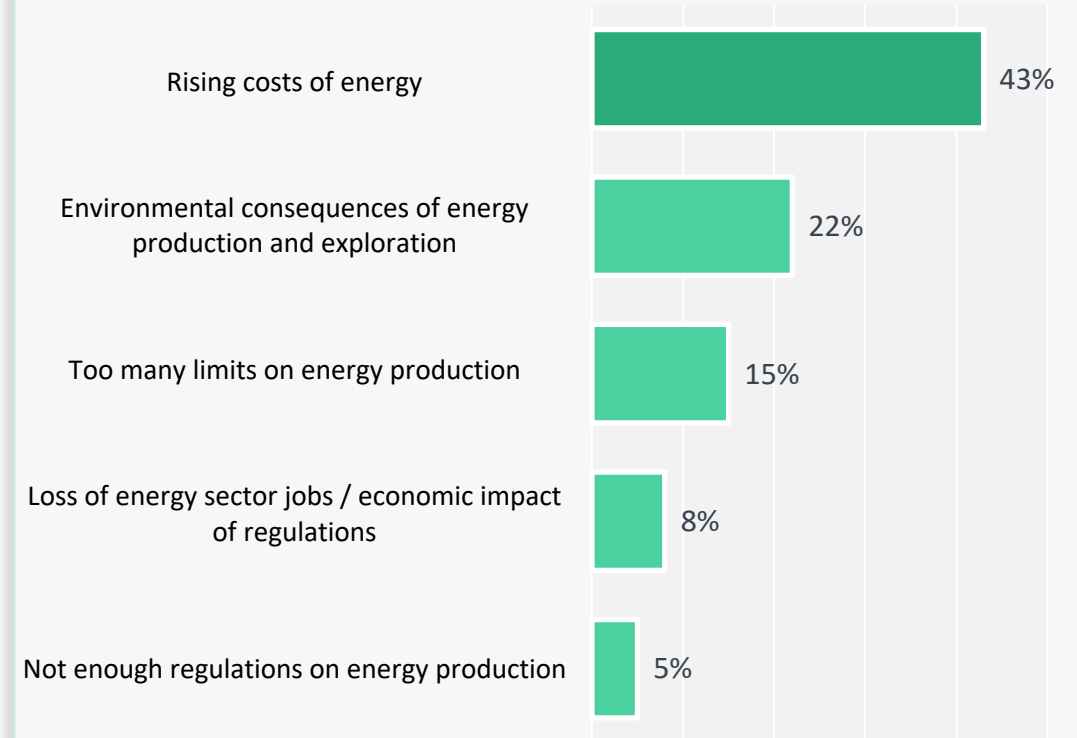

Over 7-in-10 registered voters in Pennsylvania say their household electric bill has gone up over the past year, as a strong plurality now cite rising costs of energy as the most pressing issue regarding energy and the environment.

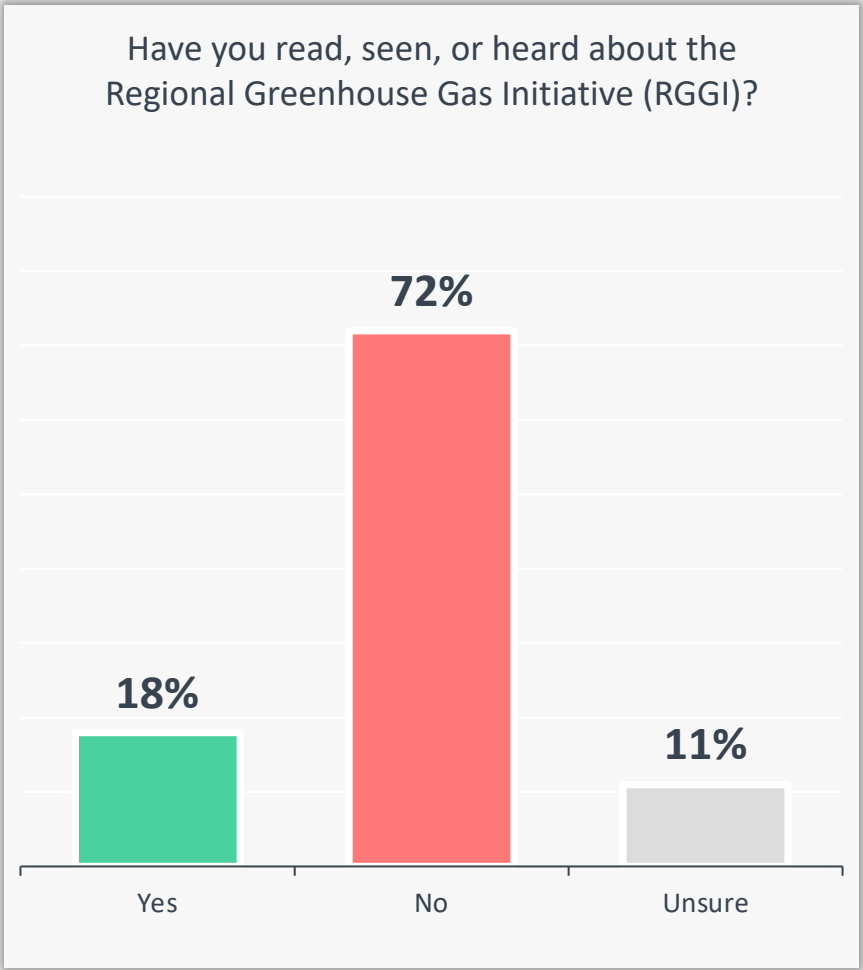

Over the past year, would you say that your household electric bill has (ROTATE) gone up, gone down or stayed the same?

What would you say is the most pressing issue in Pennsylvania today, regarding energy and the environment?

RGGI: Over 70% of registered Pennsylvanian’s have not heard of RGGI, and when learning about it, overwhelmingly oppose the initiative or any attempt to implement it without legislative approval.

The Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI) is a program that would implement new energy taxes, imposed by Pennsylvania’s previous governor by executive order, without approval by the legislature. As a result, the Commonwealth Court blocked the program, ruling it an “illegal tax” that violates the state Constitution.

Health Care: Voters only rate their overall satisfaction with health care as a 6 out of 10, agreeing that consumers need personalized coverage options, expanded access to telemedicine, and ridding the system of too much bureaucracy.

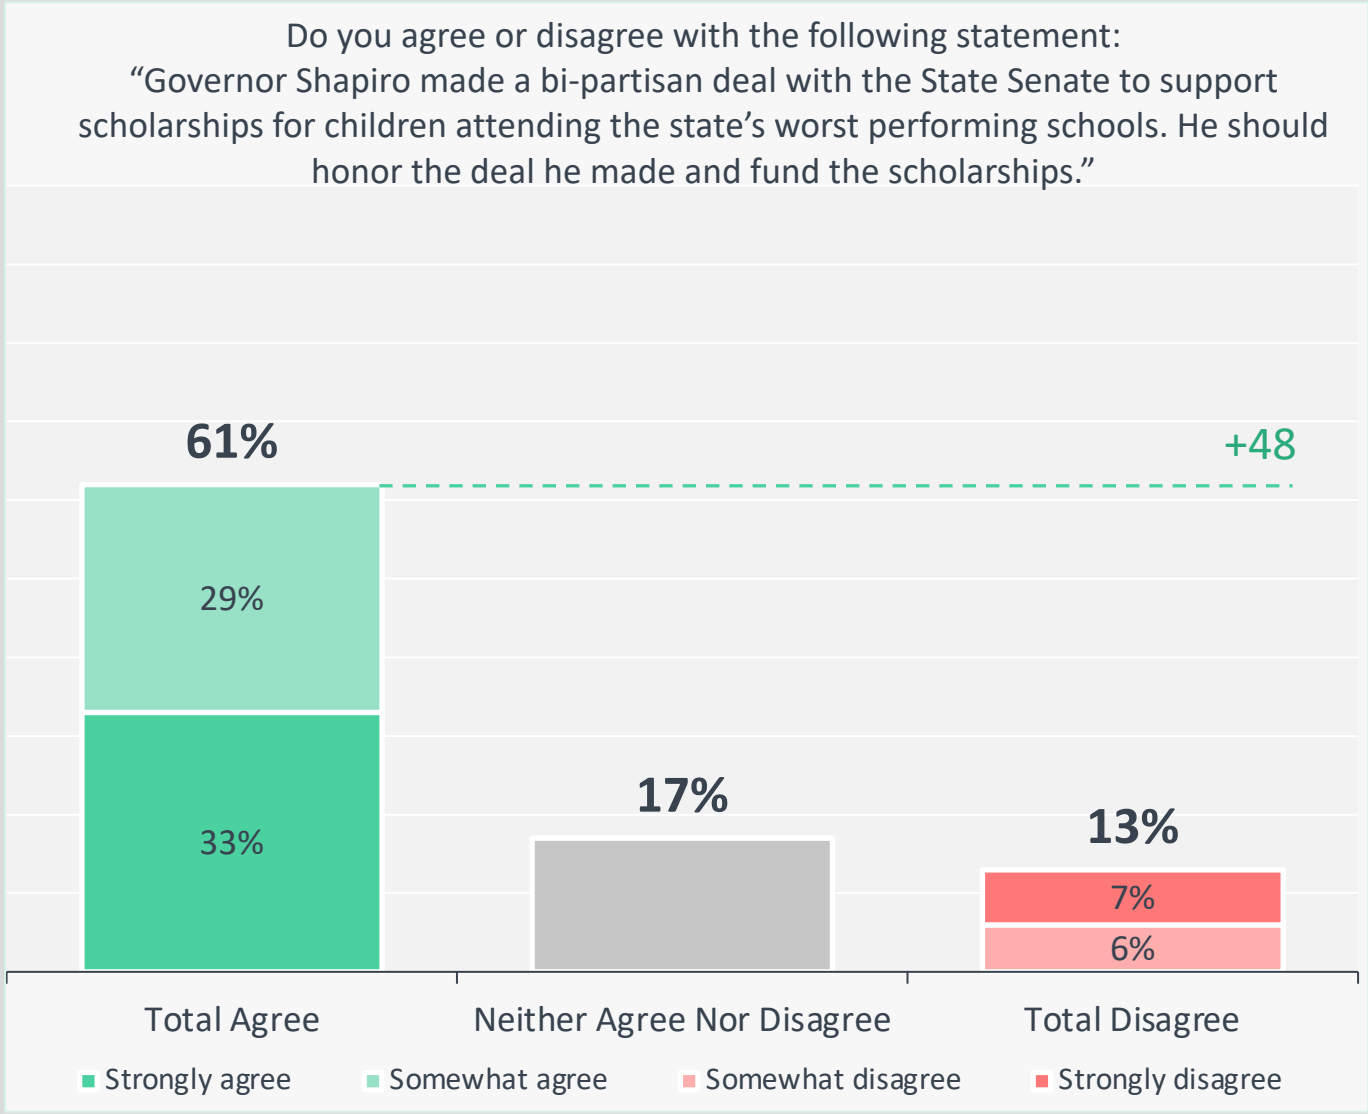

How would you rate the current state of your health care coverage, considering factors such as your plan’s accessibility, cost, and your overall satisfaction with the level of care you receive?

Please read the following statements and indicate if you agree, somewhat agree, somewhat disagree, or disagree.

Instead of being locked into one-size-fits-all plans, consumers should be empowered to personalize a coverage option that is best for them.	92%	5%	87%
Elected officials should make health care more flexible and accessible through measures like expanding access to telemedicine and enforcing price transparency rules that allow patients to shop and save.	91%	5%	86%
The current health care system is loaded with too much bureaucracy and paperwork, which drives up costs and makes it difficult for everyday people to access good care.	87%	9%	78%

Unfinished Business: By a staggering 48-point margin, voters agree that Governor Shapiro should honor the bipartisan deal he made with the State Senate to support scholarships for children attending the worst performing schools.

Unfinished Business: As voters spread the blame for not having a completed budget, a strong plurality believes it is ultimately Governor Shapiro’s responsibility to get the budget done. Despite headlines touting a ‘finished budget,’ some provisions in the funding bill still lack the code bills required to authorize these programs.

Something Both Sides Agree On: Over 90% of Democrats and Republicans agree that it is important for leaders in Pennsylvania to come together and pass a bipartisan budget agreement.

Executive Summary

It's the Economy, Stupid!

- Four of the top-5 ranked problems facing Pennsylvania involve economic factors, with inflation / cost of living ranking as the most important problem in each quarter of 2023.
- As voters cite the rising cost of living and electricity costs as substantial problems facing the state, the RGGI is either unknown or opposed by voters who fear new taxes on energy could drive everyday prices up higher.
- Currently, 4-in-10 registered voters have thought about leaving the state, or know someone who has thought about leaving, due to Pennsylvania policies.
 - The top three reasons people are considering leaving are economic reasons: lower cost of living, lower taxes, better jobs and opportunities.

Pessimistic Outlook

- At 76%, this is the highest percentage during 2023 of people who believe the country is on the “wrong track.”
 - The previous low was 72% during the first and third quarters. 75% was the second highest during the second quarter.
 - Wrong track was 81% among people earning between $40K and $80K.
- Wrong track for Pennsylvania has ticked up slightly from the last quarter (51% to 55%) as voters point to economic factors plaguing the state.

Elected Officials Not 'Getting Stuff Done' That Matters To Voters

- In a December 7th interview with KDKA-TV, Gov. Shapiro said, "I think in general, we're getting government working again." It doesn't appear voters agree, as 61% say he has not delivered major accomplishments, or they are unsure.
- Nearly as many voters believe Gov. Shapiro has not delivered major accomplishments (36%) as those who believe he has (39%). A quarter of voters are unsure. The top accomplishment cited is the I-95 repairs/infrastructure.
 - While voters equally blame both houses of the legislature for failing to pass a budget (House 22%, Senate 21%), ultimately, they believe it is the governor's responsibility to ensure a final budget (39% Shapiro, 24% State Senate, 15% State House).
- Despite frequent gridlock, budget failures, and a closely divided House, a vast majority of voters say it is important to them personally that leaders in Pennsylvania of all political parties come together and pass a budget agreement that is bipartisan.

Gearing Up For Election Year

- The generic Republican presidential candidate (47%) and generic Democratic candidate (46%) are running neck-and-neck in the tossup state of Pennsylvania.
 - When asked If the 2024 presidential elections were held today, which of the following individuals would you vote for? 41% said Trump and 34% said Biden.
- In our first head-to-head matchup of the PA U.S. Senate race, Bob Casey leads David McCormick (42% to 27%).
 - Casey's support among younger voters (18 to 44) is in the mid-30s.
 - McCormick remains relatively unknown with just 50% of GOP support.
