

Tax Credit Scholarships: An Investment in Educational Opportunity

SUMMARY

- Pennsylvania scholarship organizations awarded 77,640 K–12 scholarships through the Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) and Opportunity Scholarship Tax Credit (OSTC) in the 2021–22 school year.
- The average 2021–22 scholarship amount was $2,583 for EITC and $1,853 for OSTC.
- In 2021–22, K–12 students in Pennsylvania submitted almost 139,000 scholarship applications, the highest on record. Unfortunately, more than 63,000 student scholarship applications went unfunded due to arbitrary program caps.
- State lawmakers should increase scholarship caps and implement an “automatic escalator” to provide more students with access to a high-quality education.

PENNSYLVANIA'S SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMS

- Pennsylvania's EITC and OSTC are state tax credit programs that give thousands of low- to middle-income students access to high-quality schools of their choice.
- Students can apply for scholarships through local scholarship organizations in the fall for the following school year.
 - Scholarship applicants must be below the household income limit of $108,444, plus $19,088 for each dependent;¹ furthermore, OSTC applicants must also live within the attendance boundary of a low-achieving school.^{2, 3}
 - While no state agency collects income information regarding students, the 2021 data from Simple Tuition Solutions—one of the largest application processors in the state—showed an average household income of $64,000 for EITC and $52,000 for OSTC. Meanwhile, the Children's Scholarship Fund Philadelphia (CSFP), with scholarships primarily funded through EITC and OSTC, noted in October 2023 testimony to the state House Appropriation and Education Committees the medium income for CSFP families is $38,498.⁴
- In the spring, businesses and individuals can donate to one of over 200 scholarship organizations across the state and receive a 75 percent (1-year commitment) or 90 percent (2-year commitment) credit against their state income tax.⁵

INCREASING DEMAND FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

New data—obtained by the Commonwealth Foundation from the Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED) through Right to Know Requests—reveal the current impact of Pennsylvania's tax credit scholarship programs.

- In 2021–22, K–12 students submitted 141,482 scholarship applications, 2,914 more than the previous year and the highest on record.
- Scholarship organizations awarded 77,670 K–12 scholarships in 2021–22, up more than 15,000 from the previous year's 62,507. Students now attend school on an EITC or OSTC scholarship in all 67 counties.⁶
- In 2021–22, the average K–12 tax credit scholarship was $2,218 or $316 less per scholarship compared to the previous year.

While Pennsylvania’s tax credit scholarship programs provide transformative opportunities to thousands of students, state caps limit the programs’ impact.

- In 2021–22, Pennsylvania scholarship organizations turned away 63,812 K–12 student scholarship applications—almost 45 percent of applications—because of state caps.

Demand for EITC/OSTC far outpaces supply

While almost 78,000 students received a tax credit scholarship in 2021-22, nearly 64,000 applications were denied
